1. DEFINITIONS

Beneficiary: A person enrolled as Beneficiary in accordance with the Act respecting Cree, Inuit, and Naskapi Native Persons.

James Bay and Northern Quebec Agreement (JBNQA): Signed in 1975, the JBNQA notably recognizes rights and privileges to Inuit Beneficiaries, gives them title to Category I lands (full ownership) and harvesting rights within defined areas of interest, and in an exclusive manner on Inuit Category I and II lands. Inuit Beneficiaries’ harvesting rights are protected by this treaty, subject to the principle of conservation.

Land categories: Pursuant to the JBNQA, the territory was categorized under specific administration and management regimes (See Appendix 1), and of particular interest considering the park boundaries.

Category I lands	Category II lands	Category III lands
Collectively and exclusively owned by the local Landholding Corporation of an Inuit community. These lands extend beyond village limits.	Public lands of the Province of Quebec in which Inuit beneficiaries enjoy notably exclusive harvesting, commercial hunting, trapping and outfitting rights.	Public lands of the Province of Quebec in which beneficiaries may notably exercise in a non-exclusive manner their harvesting rights in accordance with the JBNQA and the NEQA. Beneficiaries enjoy notably exclusive trapping rights throughout Category III lands above the 50th parallel as applicable.

Inuit Landholding Corporations: Private not-for-profit bodies acting as collective owners of their respective Inuit Category I lands on behalf of their affiliated Inuit Beneficiaries. On Inuit Category I and II lands, Inuit Landholding Corporations issue authorization permits as no sport hunting or fishing activities may be conducted therein by non-beneficiaries without the authorization of the concerned landholdings.
